

Healing Hands Home Health

World class rehab at your doorstep...

Background

Continuity in patient care with the same intensity as that in the hospital is of utmost importance to achieve maximum recovery, which is currently a hindrance in our society once the patient is discharged from the hospital. Revisiting a physiotherapist at the hospital for continued treatment takes a toll as well. The difficulty in reaching Clinics and Hospitals are discouraging patients for a continued treatment which would help them in attaining complete cure. Adding to the woes is the lack of an organized, professional and efficient community service that would provide value for money.
